

Slice & Dice® puts business critical information in the right hands, at the right time, no matter where in the world they are.

Solve Lead, Opportunity, Service Request and Custom Object report distribution challenges automatically. CRMRepos's Slice and Dice from isolvIT leverages your existing Salesforce.com reports to seamlessly and automatically gather, format, and deliver business critical information on time, every time, according to your schedule.

Streamline Operations

Whether you want your sales organization to get leads faster, or you have franchises across the globe that need service requests addressed in minutes – Slice and Dice is the simple solution.

If you have a business-critical need to reliably and rapidly distribute information to key resources, look no further.

Slice and Dice takes the power of Salesforce.com Reporting to the next level. With a single report run, gather the information you need addressed and distributed to those people who must act, as frequently as every 15 minutes throughout the day.

Reports arrive beautifully formatted with headers and footers, print and screen ready for your end user.

Set it up and let it run on your schedule. Think about how much time is spent running, downloading, formatting, and finally delivering reports each day.

Now, think about what you would do with that time if you had it back.

Features and Benefits

- Encrypt files and send them securely from within the system.
- Format MS Excel reports, and save those settings for future report runs, including: 'fit-to-print', filters, sorting, freeze rows and columns, and header and footer customization.
- Deliver individualized reports to the people who need to take action, anywhere they receive email.
- Eliminate mass emails that clutter up your top talents' in box, because recipients will only get an email if they have action to take.

"The process of distributing a list of records to a group of users is extremely time consuming. We are using (Slice and Dice) to notify users of opportunities that are approaching the close date. Without slice and dice it would take me a day and a half each time we want to send out that information. It simply required too much work.

The old way meant using mail merge to send everyone their opportunities one at a time — and no one wants all that email. This is a much better solution. Getting information to people used to mean I had to do something. Now the system takes care of it for me."

— JD, customer at a US-based financial company

Let Slice & Dice® do the heavy lifting.

Get started today. Call +1 (508) 838-7725 or Contact Us and learn how our solution can free up your time, so you can focus on the things for which your business really needs you.